VOLUME XXVI. NUMBER 24.

ANNUAL PHARMACY DANCE TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY NIGHT

To Be No Taxi Affair; Many Features and Novelties Are Promised

Soothing syrup for the jaded nerves of Montana students in general and exterior finish for the Montana co-ed in particular, have been promised for distribution next Friday night at the "Biggest and Best Pharmacy Ball" ever to be staged by the University pill-rollers.

Taxis and flowers will be passe at the glorious occasion, according to Jack Wheatley, president of the pharmacists. University women have been requested to appear in formal attire. To further relieve the strain on the bank account of the more or less impoverished Montana student, a special street car has been chartered to convey the dancers home after "Home Sweet Home" has been rendered.

An effort is being made by the backers to get special late permission for the students.

Winter Garden Is Scene

The Winter Garden has been engaged for the revel accompanied by Sheridan's seven-piece orchestra, the which, according to Mr. Wheatley, there is none better to be had in the city of Missoula or the state of Montana. Punch by the gallon has also been promised, and the pharmacists further state that it will not run short during the course of the evening. In all, there will be 16 dances on the program, 14 of which will have the additional feature of being prize dances.

In an effort to accommodate all the University students who may care to attend the function, tickets have been placed on sale at all of the fraternity houses as well as at the student store on the campus. The individual pharmacists will also pack a supply in anticipation of the general rush. As a further accommodation the tickets will be placed on sale in Main hall on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Is Old Tradition

The annual pharmacy ball is one of the oldest and largest of the University dances and in the past has proved to be one of the most interesting. It is one of the few dances of the collegiate year which seem to enjoy the state of being perpetual, according to University social authorities.

While no special decorations have been planned, the production staff has declared that the hall will be decorated attractively enough to suit the most critical student on the campus. Merely as a minor detail, unusually attractive programs are in the process of creation. As added favors to the students, special gifts from numerous of the royally advertised cosmetic preparation companies have been donated for distribution at the ball.

The committee in charge of ceremonies is Jack Wheatley, chairman, Nora Osborne, Lyle Zimmerman, and Perry Smith. A strictly acceptable time is promised by the committee to all students who are provided with the necessary passport.

MONTANA NEWSPAPERMAN VISIT JOURNALISM SHACK

G. M. Moss, managing editor of the Whitefish Pilot, and O. S. Warden, manager of the Great Falls Tribune, were two visitors at the journalism shack last week. Both men are well known newspapermen of the state. Mr. Moss is also a member of the state legislature.

Mr. Warden is a member of the Montana State Highway Commission. An article of his, "Montana and her Highways," and a brief discussion of the Federal Aid System, was recently published in the Whitefish Pilot.

Leslie Petry Visits in Missoula

Leslie Petry, '26, operator of KUOM, University radio broadcasting station, has returned to Missoula for a visit. Mr. Petry spent last summer on the west coast and in Alaska, employed as a wireless telegrapher by one of the large fish packing companies there.

Notice to Juniors and Seniors

W. P. Clark, professor of foreign languages, who announced at home discussions of modern philosophies last week, wishes all juniors and seniors who are interested to see him if they wish to learn more about the meetings. The evening will be changed from Wednesday to Thursday.

Men's Gym to Have Increase of Seats by Board's Decision

According to a decision recently made by the Athletic Board of the ASUM, the seating capacity of the men's gymnasium is to be increased sufficiently to allow for the satisfactory seating of 450 more people.

The section of seats on the north side of the floor is to be moved to the east end of the hall, and in its place is to be built an entire new section. The new seats, which will be constructed more comfortably than the old ones, are to be reserved for the townspeople who attend the basketball games. In the future the students will be required to sit on the bleachers at the east end of the gymnasium and on the south side, where the townspeople have always been seated in the past.

The Athletic board plans to have this new seating arrangement completed so that it can be put into effect at the first conference game with W.S.C., January 21.

PROFESSOR BENNETT POSTPONES LECTURE

Colloquium Will Hold Regular Meeting This Afternoon at 4 in Science Building

Owing to illness, Edward Bennett, assistant professor in history and political science, has postponed his review of Sandburg's "Abraham Lincoln," which he was to give at a meeting of the Colloquium this afternoon. The group will meet, however, in the Home Economics laboratory in the Natural Science building at 4:10 o'clock today.

Home economics majors will serve refreshments and a social half hour will precede the reports. F. O. Smith, head of the Psychology department, will report on some papers read at the recent meeting of the American Psychological association in Philadelphia. The reports will present a variety of topics.

During the winter quarter reviews given at the meetings of the Colloquium will include Brown's "This Believing World," by G. D. Shallenberger, professor of physics; Dorsey's "Why We Behave Like Human Beings"; Spence's "The Problem of Atlantis," by J. E. Kirkwood, professor of botany.

The Colloquium meets fortnightly and is open to members of the faculty, students, and townspeople.

BUSINESS AUDIT REPORT OF ASUM STORE IS OPEN TO STUDENT INSPECTION

Students who are interested in the progress of the Associated Students' store are privileged to inspect the audit report for the past six months business, according to Morris H. McCollum, manager.

The report, taken immediately after inventory and the closing of the books on December 31, 1926, covers all of the business of the store since July 1, 1926. It is on file at the office of the store, and may be inspected by any member of the student body desiring to see it.

The inventory taken during the Christmas holidays revealed a total of more than 3,500 different articles and prices. This number has increased from a possible 300 at the time the Associated Students' store was started in 1919, to the present number.

Dorm Women Make "C" Average

Two-thirds of the women students in North and Craig halls made a "C" average or better the fall quarter, according to a report given out by Dean Harriet Sedman. Mrs. Sedman states she is very pleased with the results of dormitory grades so far.

Athletic Club Picture is Taken

Members of the "M" club held a meeting last night for the purpose of having their picture taken for the year book. About 30 members of the organization were present. It was impossible to take any action on the "M" club tournament, but this will be planned at the next meeting of the organization.

DEBATE TEAMS PLAN FOREIGN INVASIONS

Four Trips to Be Included in Forensic Activities of the Year

"Schedules and debate trips, have been arranged for," said H. G. Merriam, professor of English. "This should be the greatest debate season in the history of the University." Four trips will be taken by the women's and men's teams, and 25 stops will be made to meet opposition along the way. The Varsity will make one trip to California and other southern states and one to Washington, while the women's teams will go to Dillon to debate the State Normal school and to Portland and Tacoma. A team of freshman women will go to Bozeman January 19, and will debate the same question that a team of State college girls will argue here the same evening.

The first trip for the Varsity will be to meet Gonzaga at Spokane on January 25, and Washington State college at Pullman, January 26. March 2 they will be at the University of Oregon; March 1, Willamette college at Salem, and March 3, University of Washington at Seattle.

Enough guarantees have been made for these trips so that the expenses of the team will be well within the budget allowance given by the ASUM board.

Women to Debate Utah

In their debate with the Utah Aggies on March 9, the women's team will debate the question, Resolved, That Fraternities and Sororities Should Be Abolished. In April, a trip may be arranged in which the women will meet Reed college at Portland, the College of Puget Sound at Tacoma and three of the state normal schools of Washington.

The trip to California will take place in March. The University of Utah, at Salt Lake City; Utah Agricultural college at Logan; Redlands University at Redlands, Cal.; Loyola college, University of Southern California, and Southwestern university at Los Angeles; St. Ignace college at San Francisco; the College of the Pacific at Stockton, and the University of Nevada at Reno, will be the schools visited.

The question to be debated on this trip will be: Resolved, That Democracy Is a Failure. These debates will be conducted along the English style that proved so popular with audiences last fall when the Australian debate team appeared here. This system minimizes the importance of the decision and stresses the arguments.

Varsity and M.S.C. to Tour

Some time after the beginning of the spring quarter a team from the University may go on tour with a team from the State college to some of the principal cities of the state and will debate some angle of the prohibition question. The cities that will probably be visited are Butte, Great Falls, Helena and Billings.

Debates that will take place here next quarter are as follows: January 13, University of Idaho; March 3, University of Washington; March 29, Willamette college, and February 15, the Agricultural college of Utah.

UNIVERSITY TO RECEIVE CUB BEAR FOR MASCOT

W. A. McDonald, who is in charge of the Grizzly cub bear that was mascot to the football games last fall, offered the cub to the Bear Paws, sophomore honorary organization, but as they had no place to keep the bear they could not accept the offer at that time.

However, Art Burns, chief grizzly of the organization, consulted several officers of the ASUM to see if the University could take charge of the cub. They feel sure that the school will take the cub and keep it with the other animals in the Biology department.

CRAIG HALL RESIDENTS MOVED TO CORBIN HALL

All the remaining students in Craig hall were moved to their new quarters in Corbin hall yesterday morning, according to Tom Swearingen, University maintenance engineer. Although the third floor is not completely finished as yet, the rooms are in good enough condition to be occupied. South hall has more than its capacity number of men this quarter. The hall is intended to accommodate 116 men, but there are 121 in the hall this quarter. The extra men are taken care of in a large sleeping room in the basement of the hall.

SONG AND YELL CONTEST TO BE OPEN TO STUDENTS THROUGH REST OF WINTER

As yet no songs or yells have been entered in the prize contest being conducted by the ASUM, according to Mike Thomas, business manager of the organization. All students, alumni and former students are urged to hand in a contribution as soon as possible. The three prizes offered for the best songs or yells are $45, $35 and $25.

The contestants must understand, however, that the judges of the contest, President Clapp, DeLoss Smith, and one student, to be chosen later, claim the right to make no awards at all if none of the contributions is considered worthy. They likewise claim the right to use any of the contributions, whether they are prize winners, or not.

The contest will be kept open during the entire winter quarter, and the winners will be announced in the spring. Entrants in the contest must have their offerings in the ASUM office before the end of this quarter.

PLAY CONTEST TO BE NEW EVENT OF MEET

Annual Interscholastic Track Tourney Will Be Held on May 11, 12 and 13

A one-act play contest will be added to the interscholastic program this year, according to Dr. J. P. Rowe, chairman of the annual high school meet. The committee feels that there is enough interest in dramatics among the high schools of the state to warrant the inclusion of this contest in the program. Final rules for the play contest will be announced at a later date.

The date of the track and field meet this year will be May 11, 12, and 13. The letters of invitation will go out to the various schools next Saturday, following a committee meeting Wednesday night. Dr. Rowe announces that no changes in admission charge or rules of entry will be probable this year as those last year proved quite satisfactory. The field will be fenced to prevent spectators sneaking in without tickets. The publication of the interscholastic bulletin and souvenir programs will be in the hands of Professor J. W. Howard. Professor A. S. Merrill, who is now on his vacation, managed this work last year.

BEAR PAWS TO STAGE ANNUAL DANCE SOON

One of the features of the novelty dance, to be given by the Bear Paws, sophomore honorary organization, will be the tapping of new members. This is due to a rule passed earlier in the season, entitling the membership to 20 active men. The new members will replace those who withdrew from school at the close of the fall quarter.

There will be five prizes awarded for the different novelties at this dance, which will be held January 21, at the Winter Garden. Music will be furnished by Sheridan's seven-piece orchestra. Late permission will probably be granted.

It is advisable for those who plan to attend this dance to get their tickets at once as there will be only a limited number sold. They may be obtained, at the price of $1, from any member of the Bear Paws.

Quadrans Will Meet January 27
Quadrans will have its first meeting of the quarter on Thursday, January 27, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. All members are urged to be present.

BADGLEY STATES LOSS ON BASKETBALL GAMES

According to figures given out by Kirk Badgley, student auditor, the athletic board of the ASUM lost $188.14 on the two basketball games with Mount St. Charles, played here last week-end. The net receipts of the game Friday night were $33.50, and Saturday night, $38.50, making a total of $72.00. The guarantee to the Helena team for the two games was $160. The official expense was $108.64, and the amount paid to the ticket seller and ticket takers was $12. This brought the expense total up to $280.64.

STUDENT ART WORK FEATURED IN EXHIBIT

Advanced and Elementary Class Work Presented in Display

There are on exhibition in the Art department, 519 drawings representing the work done by the four classes in the Art department last fall under the direction of Mr. Riedell.

The first-year students taking elementary design exhibited work dealing with the problems of art and self-expression. The art problems required supervision but those in self-expression were the students' own attempts to reproduce the sound of music in line. The first-year class in drawing did its elementary work in landscape drawing, later using animals and then figures as models. These were first done in the different shades of gray and later in color. The most difficult part of this course, according to Professor Riedell, were the ink sketches of animals demanded from each member of the class.

Advance Class Working
The class in advanced drawing worked with the human figure, the most difficult type of reproduction. The charcoal drawings, the last work of this class, were not on exhibition because of the limited space in the department. Interesting drawings were those where the artists had used themselves for models, pencil and later oil used as media. Another revealing phase of this work was the attempt of the artist to reproduce his various moods. This type of work was usually done in pencil.

The fourth class working under Mr. Riedell last quarter was the one in ancient art, in which an attempt was made to interpret and reproduce the art of the Egyptians, the Assyrians, the Greeks and the Moors. In the Orient the work of the Chinese and Japanese was studied and an attempt made to reproduce their imaginative pictures.

According to Professor Riedell this work is as good as that done last year.

WORK ON SENTINEL PROGRESSES RAPIDLY

"Work on the 1927 Sentinel is progressing rapidly and very satisfactorily this quarter, due to the renewed efforts and enthusiasm of the members of the staff," said Editor Robert MacKenzie.

One of the most attractive features of this year's book is the photographic section which includes a wide range of interesting subjects. Pictures have been obtained of some of the alumni of the University of Montana who were outstanding in school. For example, the past week photographs were taken of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ward of Hamilton, both prominent students of the University. Mr. Ward was particularly conspicuous for his athletic ability.

Another interesting picture taken recently was that of Helen McCrackin, who was the first person to register at the University of Montana.

PRESS CLUB MEMBERS MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

Press club will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. It is absolutely necessary that members of the club attend or they will have to be discontinued.

The program arranged includes a short talk by Dr. C. A. Schenck, well-known forester. Mr. Schenck's talk will be on journalism.

Plans for the Press club banquet are to be started. Various committees will be appointed to take charge of the event.

GEOLOGY DEPARTMENT RECEIVES NEW EQUIPMENT

Two new pieces of apparatus were purchased by the Geology department during the holidays. A range-finder, with effectiveness up to 1,000 feet, has been added to the department, for use in the laboratory and on field trips. An altimeter, or specific barometer, was also purchased. This instrument is used to tell the elevation above sea-level at whatever point it happens to be located, and is said to be highly accurate, telling within five feet the correct altitude.

George (Gid) Boldt, former president of the ASUM, was in town yesterday visiting friends. Boldt is at present working in the office of United States District Attorney Rankin, in Helena.

GRIZZLIES ANNEX TWO WINS OVER SAINT CHARLES CREW

Montana Grid Star Returns From South to Resume Studies

"Wild Bill" Kelly, Montana football ace and captain of last year's Varsity squad, returned yesterday from the realtor's paradise known as California bearing with him an injured ankle, a memento of the East-West struggle in which he participated New Year's day. The famous Grizzly athlete will enroll for the completion of his course and will probably receive an appointment to West Point in the spring.

The Montanan was the outstanding star of the intersectional engagement and won considerable fame through his brilliant performance at the Kezar stadium. His toss to Sweet, former team mate, for the winning score was the high light of the contest and proved to be the only mark of superiority exhibited by the westerners. Kelly is the recipient of a watch and a sweater given him in token of his stellar play at San Francisco by the grateful natives of the sunshine state, who were doubtless overjoyed at the prospect of sending the representatives of the effete east back home defeated and so bring still predominant over the hated rival, Florida.

PINAFORE MAY LEAD TO NEW DRAMATIC ERA

Little Theater Will Be Completed for Production of Comic Opera This Month

Pinafore, if a success, will pave the way for more productions of a similar nature at the University, according to dramatics authorities. The comic opera, by Gilbert and Sullivan, will open up a new era of dramatics at Montana which should prove extremely interesting to University students and townspeople, according to DeLoss Smith, head of the School of music, who is in charge of the arrangement of the musical score and the training of the choruses.

Following the precedent established with "The Bad Man," the major theatrical production of last quarter, Pinafore will be staged on two successive nights, January 20 and 21, and will probably be run a third night if there is great enough demand.

Theater to Be Complete

By the time the show is ready to be staged the Little Theater will be complete in every detail, according to the stage staff. The switchboard was installed last week and all wiring connections will be finished within a few days. Dimmers for all the main circuits have also been installed. Pinafore is to be a masterpiece in lighting effects, according to the promise of the electricians staff. The seats for the theater have not been installed yet, but the work will be rushed through as soon as they arrive on the campus.

The temporary window shades used at the opening performance, have been replaced with shades more in harmony with the general color scheme. A light shade of grey, alike to that of the walls, was decided upon as the most fitting for the theater needs.

Nightly rehearsals of the principles and choruses are under way. Considerable progress in the dances and ensemble work has been reported by Mr. Smith.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE CLASSES MOVE TO FORESTRY BUILDING

Mrs. F. Weisberg and Miss M. Peterson, instructors in the Foreign Language department, have been holding some of their classes in the first quarters of the languages in the Forestry building on account of the number of students enrolled. The class rooms in the Law Library were found to be too small for the increased numbers.

LaCroix Under Quarantine

Junior LaCroix, son of Lieutenant A. J. LaCroix, assistant professor of military science, has been suffering an attack of scarlet fever during this time. Lieutenant LaCroix has been unable to conduct classes as he is also under quarantine.

Both Games Ragged; Fourth Straight Win For Montana Hoopsters

Montana's lineup proved too strong for the Mount St. Charles quintet and the Helena crew lost a two-game series to the tri-collegiate squad. These were the first collegiate games for both quintets.

Both contests were ragged and rough as is usually the case in the first games of the season. There were 25 personal fouls called in the first game, one man of each team being banished from the game on account of having four personals marked against him. In the second contest there were 24 personal fouls called by Referee Mulligan, St. Charles registering 13 and Montana 11.

Both teams showed lack of practice but they have promise of developing into smart hoop squads as the season progresses. The Grizzlies won both games because they were better shots than the Saints. Both aggregations handled the ball well for this early in the season and were able to advance into the enemy territory whenever they had the ball but the Hill-toppers were unable to tally on their numerous shots. The Saints received the ball on almost every tip-off but sprouting with the ball lost them many an opportunity to score. In the first game the Saints registered 10 out of 19 free throws while the Grizzlies were only able to tally six out of 14 shots. In the second contest the Grizzlies proved to be more accurate in their tosses and were able to gain 10 points in 16 tries while the Saints could only add six points in 14 attempts.

First Game

Kain started the scoring in the first game with a nice 15-foot toss. O'Rourke evened the count with two free throws. Overturf regained the lead with a foul conversion. Good tallied a long shot to put the Saints in the lead but Kain gained the lead for the Grizzlies on a nice distance shot. After the Saints missed several set-ups, Kain dropped one in from underneath the basket. Huber got in the scoring column with a neat side shot and Kain registered another close-up. Huber scored two more side shots and Enright and Overturf got a foul toss apiece to end the first half, score 17-5.

At the beginning of the second half

SKELS TO EDIT BULLETIN ON WHITE PINE RUST FOR SCHOOL OF FORESTRY

Authorization has been given Professor Dorr Skels to edit a Forestry School bulletin on the white pine blister rust.

Professor Skels has devoted a great deal of research work to this forestry problem. He spent the summer vacation last year in mapping the Montana forests to locate any growths of black currants, gooseberries or other bushes of the same family which develop the disease in one phase of its cycle.

Professor Skels has represented the Forestry School at the meetings of specialists on white pine blister rust control in the Northwest, and has kept in close touch with all developments in control and prevention of the disease. The bulletin will be published some time in the spring this year.

CRACK SQUAD OF ROTC WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Captain R. M. Caultkins, assistant professor of military science, announces the crack squad will hold its first meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the ROTC building.

Many inquiries regarding this course have been received by Captain Caultkins during the past week and he is expecting a large number of candidates to report Wednesday.

Anyone who wishes to further his education and improve his skill along the military lines should not fail to attend this meeting.

NEW FORESTERS ENROLL

New students enrolled in the Forestry school this quarter exceed by four the number withdrawing at the close of the autumn quarter, according to Dean T. C. Spaulding.

Ten new students or former students were enrolled, while six were dropped or withdrew. Of this number four were freshmen and two sophomores.

The Idea Is Growing

THE COLLEGE and University of the future, listening to the advice of the discussion group on the honor system, will be certain to install such a system, though in details there will be great differences between individual institutions. The chief problem to which it will address itself will be "creating the spirit of honor," which the "expert" of the group reported was a matter of environment and could be trained. J. S. Mallory, president of a southern University, made this report at a meeting held recently. Practically all the large schools of the east and south were represented at the gathering.

Such, whether you believe them important or inconsequential, radical or conservative, will be the suggestions followed by student bodies and colleges which respond to the congress. Meanwhile, the National Student Federation of America is in the process of signing up student bodies of two hundred and fifty schools.

The movement is widespread and, of course, is headed west. Many of the western schools have already adopted the Student Self-government idea, while others are contemplating taking over the plan. Montana does not want to be left out. Last year such a movement was started on this campus with a certain amount of success. Student leaders hope that this matter may again be brought before the students of the University in a final effort to put Montana on the map with the other leading colleges and Universities of America.

Get-Going

CENTRAL Board of the ASUM is endeavoring to bring before the students of the University the meaning of the Song and Yell contest, which was announced at the close of the fall quarter.

Montana has long needed a variety of real good songs, as well as yells. The student governing board sensed this fact and has launched a campaign, which is to continue throughout the winter quarter.

Every student should make some effort to contribute towards this good cause. The committee in charge is desirous of receiving hundreds of songs and yells, and then, to finally select a few songs which could be termed official. Then, too, it is hoped that many yells may be added to the already growing number.

The ASUM is offering an attractive set of prizes to the winners of these contests, which should greatly increase the popularity. Students are urged to get started early and turn in songs and yells by the yard.

The athletic board makes announcement that new seats are being arranged for in the men's gymnasium. The gym has always been crowded during basketball games in the past and has long needed more seats.

The seats that now occupy the north side of the building will be moved to the east end, while new seats will be placed for townspeople on the north side.

Students will occupy the south bleachers, and the end seats, which will make for a more centrally organized student body, as well as keep the students together for yells and songs.

We are glad that the board has realized the need of these seats, and hope that the crowds will only increase with the addition of new room.

MRS. ARNOLDSON MAKES STUDY OF FRENCH IDIOMS

Mrs. Louise Arnoldson, assistant professor of foreign languages, has completed work on an idiomatic check list and summary for A. Coleman of the University of Chicago. This is a part of an extensive survey carried on by that school in determining what the present-day French is like. It is valuable work in watching the trend of the language and is designed to keep books and studies up to date.

Mrs. Arnoldson, because of her aptitude at reading and recognizing the idiomatic constructions, was chosen for this task by Mr. Coleman. It consists in reading extracts from modern French books and entering new idioms and checking the number of times the old ones are used.

Paul Woelfel, who transferred to Montana from Dartmouth college, New Hampshire, last summer quarter, and who attended the University last fall quarter, visited friends in Missoula last week-end en route from his home in Chicago to Seattle, where he will enter the University of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anderson, Marie Neeley, and Paul Woelfel were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fields, Pattee street, Saturday.

Howard Varney is reported as being considerably improved. He has been confined with rheumatism at St. Patrick's hospital.

Eleanor McBarron of Butte and Helen Walsh of Helena have withdrawn from school.

Roland Holt, national authority on the Little theater and well known American dramatic and music critic, writes of the opera season in New York City for the Montana Kaimin.

WOTAN CELEBRATES

BY ROLAND HOLT

Four hours of Wagner is a good deal to take upon one's shoulders, aching with the stress of Christmas, compared with which even "the stress of the gods" was light, but a gift of two $7.50 orchestra seats is not to be thrown away. So raced to make the Metropolitan at 1:45 on Christmas afternoon. So many operas end fatally that, as nothing worse happened to Brynhilda than being put to sleep, Die Walkure seemed a comparatively cheerful opera for Christmas. The hour was so early that the first curtain rose on a sparse audience, while many left before Brynhilda slept, but, during most of the splendid performance, every seat was filled. Bodansky led the orchestra of about a hundred, said to be the finest opera orchestra in the world, beautifully, but rather more quietly than Sedil used to. His placing his stand but a quarter of the way from the audience's right side of the stage is an unusual procedure. The motifs did not appear to come in a chain, but as bright patterns in a constantly moving rich web of orchestral sound. Even the deep-toned Valhalla theme seemed like the velvet shadow of a dream. When the glorious spring song followed by the plucking of Nothing the sword from the tree, concluded the wonderful first act, the orchestra fairly sang with Jeritza and, marvellous to relate, Taucher, who sang better than any of the many Siegmunds I have heard since Olvry. The greatest Sieglinde I've ever seen was Lili Lehman, who seldom sang that part. Jeritza, though, is the most splendid vision of them all. She looks the demigod, though she is inclined to hold her plastic poses a bit too long, and while she sings "Thou Art the Spring" with fine fervor, is too much the goddess and too little the woman. One kept thinking what a magnificent Brynhilda she would make, though Easton looked young and handsome, even if a bit undersized for the Walkure, and played with the tenderness which the Sieglinde rather lacked. Whitehill, who made one of his first appearances at the Metropolitan years ago with Savage's company in English, was an excellent Wotan, especially impressive when from the clouds he sent Hunding to his death. There was a tendency to rationalize the proceedings. Brynhilda's horse, Fricka's rams and the obvious electric bulb under the sword hilt were all welcome absentees. Short Marion Telva, in a long gray gown, as Fricka, seemed to possess the eternally young face of a goddess, but otherwise looked like a nun. She however sang the passage about "the eternal gods' most holy law" splendidly, and the orchestra seemed to soar to the very heavens after her. Fancy having to make music adequate to those tremendous words. Wagner never failed, when called upon to express the majesty.

I'm a bit fearful how the next play I see, sans music and sans scenic grandeur, will seem after Wagner's stupendous music drama.

Camel attracts the quality smoker

CAREFUL observation will reveal that men of quality demand quality in a cigarette—smoke Camels. A Camel smoker goes straight to the point in cigarettes and demands enjoyment.

For there are no better tobaccos or blending than you get in Camels. There is no other cigarette taste and fragrance that can compare with Camels, because they are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. In a cigarette, as in the smoker, there is nothing that can substitute for quality.

If you want to know what experienced smokers like, just try Camels. Each year new millions try them all and find in Camels enjoyment realized. Camels never tire the taste. To test the quality of Camels, compare them with any cigarette made regardless of price. "Have a Camel!"

Floor Warrior Hurt; Crowd Delights in Gory Spectacle

Came a lull in the game; came a pause in the hostilities. The referee blew his whistle and the Missoula police force was restrained with difficulty. The Montana team withdrew to a far and secluded corner of the floor and held a significant conference while the Mount St. Charles warriors gathered around a stricken player.

The man lay inert except for a slight twitching of his right knee and his team-mates seized the afflicted member and began to manipulate it in a manner so vicious and forceful as to bring joy to the heart of every surgeon and dentist in the crowd. It was soon learned that the man had developed water on the knee and that his mates were trying to pump it out. Upon learning that the man was in intense pain, the crowd cheered vociferously. The referee looked up into the stands and suffered a badly sprained eye. The assemblage of spectators became delirious with joy at the prospect of so many serious injuries and the game was resumed after a pair of smoked glasses had been procured for the referee.

The game progressed for five minutes without any fatalities and the crowd, becoming disappointed, prepared to go home. Just then the Mount St. Charles played developed more water on the knee. In fact, judging from his contortions, a young lake had made its permanent home within the injured joint. The multitude literally howled with glee. The referee suggested that the man be handled with a trifle more gentleness. This, to the athletes, appeared to be humor of the highest degree and they redoubled their efforts amid bursts of thunderous cheering. The referee, suffering from a bad attack of hang-nail, was carried from the floor and immediately carried back. The game was resumed with 10 people and the referee participating and the crowd waited expectantly.

The object of the game appeared to be the act of dropping the ball and picking it up again. One man dropped the ball and picked it up all the way down the floor and then projected it in such a way as to cause it to drop into the basket. This appeared to be a useless proceeding as the ball immediately dropped out through the bottom. However, it didn't seem to discourage the men in the least for they tried it all over again.

Nobody could make the leathern sphere remain in the receptacle, however, and the game ended with the ball still loose. It probably was a tie game. The caretaker went the rounds after the game and gathered up the empty cigarette packages in a basket. This is undoubtedly the reason it is called basketball.

Requests Few for Early Examinations Says Dean of Men

"Requests for early examinations were unusually few the fall quarter," said R. H. Jesse, dean of men, yesterday. "Last year at this time there were about 200 students who wished to take their examinations ahead of the scheduled time so that they might get home for the holidays sooner, but there were not more than a dozen such requests during the past examination week."

The spring quarter is the time when there are so many students wishing to take early exams, according to Dean Jesse. Positions with the Forest service, with the Bureau of Public Roads, and in the different national parks start about the same time that school lets out, but there are a great many who like to get out just a few days ahead of the scheduled time. Dean Jesse states that in a great many instances where he has written to employers, they have stated that if the applicant had expressed a desire to assume his responsibilities at a later date that could have been easily arranged. Dean Jesse wishes to call the attention of students to this matter, as it will simplify matters greatly for both the students and the instructors.

A sermon in stones

CECIL RHODES, the diamond king, had a real idea which he passed on to diamonds in the rough.

"Be well-rounded men, broad in your sympathies," he said, and he made this the basis for selection of Rhodes scholars.

Surely there's a lesson for every man—graduates alike in arts, in pure science or in applied science—to balance the student in him with the athlete, the individualist with the man of sociability, the specialist with the "citizen of the world."

For Rhodes' idea was no theory. It is shared by hard-headed business men today.

Adams Makes Cut On Yearling Squad; Practices Every Night

Coach Harry Adams administered his first cut of the frosh basketball squad, reducing the aggregation to 26 men.

The who survived the first cut were: Buckley, A. D'Orazi, Dougherty, K. Skerogen, J. Gillan, Erickson, A. Knap, D. Linville, D. Lawry, H. Miller, M. Mitchell, S. Ramor, B. Ricker, R. Robinson, T. Rule, J. Shave, G. Sterling, I. Stillings, F. Triple, W. Voorhies, M. Webster, Wendt, Wilson, J. Currie, E. Perry, and J. Johnson.

Adams will go into effect sometime in the near future. The yearlings are holding their practice periods Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Wednesday, Friday and Saturday afternoons.

There were several good prospects, who did not return to school or else were dropped upon probation for the quarter. This causes some loss in the lineup. Coach Adams is rounding his men into proper places and will have a really looking quint ready for the season's contests.

GRIZZLIES TO BATTLE WESTERN HOOPSTERS

Vandals Supposed to Be Strong Contenders for Coast Title

After winning their first four preliminary games the Grizzlies start on the road this week-end to play the Idaho Vandals Friday, and Washington State college Saturday, in their first two conference games of the 1927 season.

The Vandals are supposed to be flag contenders for this year's coast championship. Dave McMillan, coach of the Vandal squad, has a veteran crew to work with, having five third-year men and four second-year men on his squad. He also has a couple of first-year men that will make the veterans work hard to hold their positions. The first string has played two full seasons together and should go big in their last year of collegiate competition. The Idaho quint has made an extended tour down the Pacific coast and should be in fairly good trim when they meet the Grizzlies next Friday.

Vandals Have Veterans

Here are the men that Idaho relies on to grab the banner: Ed Nedros, third-year forward, tall, swarthy, and fast.

Johnny Miles, third-year forward, fleet, aggressive, and shifty.

Ralph Erickson, third-year center, tall, strong, and a dangerous shot.

"Red" Jacoly, second-year guard, fast and slippery.

Art Dewald, second-year guard.

George Green, second-year guard.

Hal Lamphere, third-year guard.

Henry Canine, third-year forward.

Darwin Burgher, first-year center and forward.

Walt Remer, third year center and forward.

In last year's contest between the two teams, the Vandals won the first game at Moscow, converting nine fouls while the Grizzlies were only able to score twice from the foul line. In the return game the Grizzlies were victors, 35-24.

The Grizzlies have been practicing hard for their first conference struggle. Steiner Larsen, who has been playing regular standing guard, has a foot injury but he will probably be okay for the trip. Coach Stewart will leave with his men on the Northern Pacific Thursday night.

Alpha Phi announces the initiation of Eleanor McBarron of Butte, Anna Kimball and Marion Redle of Missoula, Helen and Althea Castle of Virginia City.

INTRA-MURAL SPORTS PROGRAM OUTLINED

Church League Floor Games Begin Season of Competitive Contests; Many Teams Entered

Intra-mural opens its sport program for the winter quarter with the Church league basketball. There are seven teams entered in the tournament, which starts tomorrow evening, January 12, in the men's gymnasium at 7:15 o'clock.

There are other features to be offered that will be announced later. The teams entered in the coming fray are: University, Phil Henry, manager; Methodists, Orrville Skones; Newman club, Tom McCarthy; and Ed Marsh; Episcopalists, Bob Calloway; Presbyterians, Briggs Land; Lutheran, Hans Olson; Disciples, Cal Pierce.

The schedule of playing the games by arranging the quarters is as follows: The first half of the first game played each night will be followed by the first half of the second game and the second half of the first game will be followed by the second half of the second game.

The schedule of games is as follows: Wednesday, January 12—University vs. Presbyterians; Newman club vs. Disciples.

Monday, January 17—Methodists vs. Episcopalists; Lutherans vs. Presbyterians.

Wednesday, January 19—University vs. Disciples; Newman club vs. Lutherans.

Monday, January 24—Episcopalists vs. Presbyterians; Methodists vs. Disciples.

Wednesday, January 26—Newman club vs. Episcopalists; University vs. Lutherans.

Monday, January 31—Presbyterians vs. Methodists; Disciples vs. Lutherans.

Tuesday, February 1—Episcopalists vs. University; Methodists vs. Newman club.

Wednesday, February 2—Presbyterians vs. Disciples; Lutherans vs. Episcopalists.

Monday, February 7—Methodists vs. Lutherans; Newman club vs. Presbyterians.

Wednesday, February 9—University vs. Methodists; Episcopalists vs. Disciples.

Friday, February 11—Newman club vs. University.

The teams have spent considerable time in developing themselves before the holidays and they will undoubtedly present some very interesting games.

Harry Adams, who is in charge of intra-mural, wishes the managers of the teams to prepare an eligibility list.

and hand it to him by Wednesday noon. There is no admission charge to any of these games throughout the tournament.

Druids to Discuss Problem of Pine Rust

The white pine blister rust is the research problem that will be discussed at the regular Druids' meeting Wednesday night. Professor Dorris Skeels, who has specialized on this problem, will lead the discussion.

The business meeting will be held in the Forestry school library, after which the group will adjourn to the research forum. The white pine blister rust is prevalent in forests as close as 60 miles from Montana's boundary now and it's inevitable that foresters in this state will soon have the disease to contend with and combat.

Plans Are Complete for "Grab-Bag" Sale

All plans are complete for the "grab-bag" to be held at the Associated Students' store Wednesday at 2 o'clock, according to Morris H. McCollum, manager.

"The 300 packages have been carefully wrapped to conceal the nature of their contents," said Mr. McCollum, yesterday. "We expect to have as much fun watching the 'grab' as the students who take the chances. There are a few 'jokers' in some of the packages, but everyone will get his money's worth."

The "grab-bag" held at the campus store has become an annual affair. It was started three years ago, when Mr. McCollum took over the management, and has increased each year, both in the size of the "grab-bag," and the popularity among the students.

The charge for each grab will be 50 cents.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATE RECEIVES APPOINTMENT

Magdalene Larson, who received her B.A. degree here in the spring of 1925, has been appointed to the instructional staff of the Foreign Language department of the University of Delaware in recognition of her high scholastic standing in the group of students that attended the Sorbonne in Paris last year.

Miss Larson, by special arrangements with the Delaware school, went with the group of students sent yearly under their auspices to study French and give courses in English. Her credits were transferred at the end of her junior year and it was found that she had a sufficient number for her degree. She received the highest average of grades of anyone in the group last year.

Albertine Twitchell has returned to school this quarter. She has been studying at the University of Minnesota the past quarter.

What he didn't learn at college

LAWRENCE DAY HOWELL

In his class work, Lawrence Day Howell, Princeton, Litt. B. '13, E. E. '19, never heard of marine applications for electrical equipment. In fact, they were practically unknown. Yet he now is in charge of the Marine Section, Transportation Division, of the Westinghouse Sales Department, located at New York.

When Howell came from college to the Westinghouse Graduate Students' Course, he had twelve months of thoroughgoing work in the shops at East Pittsburgh. Then he decided he wanted to enter the field which seemed most undeveloped and perhaps most promising of broad expansion. This was marine engineering.

"What's the future with a large organization?" That is what college men want to know, first of all. The question is best answered by the accomplishments of others with similar training and like opportunities. This is one of a series of advertisements portraying the progress at Westinghouse of college graduates, off the campus some five—eight—ten years.

Not five per cent of the present opportunities on the water have been opened for electrification. Yet there is more horsepower, in prime movers, on the ocean than there is on the land.

In Howell's undergraduate days, this field was scarcely scratched—just as radio was not known to many young engineers when they were in college. A college man's opportunities are not limited to the electrical developments now in existence.

In marine applications an order may assume large proportions. A single installation, negotiated by Howell recently, of the newly-developed Diesel-electric drive for a yacht, totaled $175,000. Such sales are not made overnight. They result from understanding fully a customer's needs.

To men with the knack of taking the other fellow's point of view, a career as Sales Engineer at Westinghouse brings returns in personal satisfaction as well as in worldly reward.

SPORT GLIMPSES

Montana basketball games for the coming week:
Montana versus Idaho, Friday, January 14, at Moscow.
Montana versus Washington State college, January 15, at Pullman.
University Frosh versus Missoula high at the high school gym tonight.
University Frosh versus Alberton high at the University gym Friday, January 14.

The basketball squad leaves Thursday night on the Northern Pacific for their first trip of the 1927 season. They will open their conference season away from home and will play two strong aggregations. The train leaves about 11 o'clock and everyone should be on hand to see the team off. It's after bedtime but either make arrangements for late permission or call it sneak night.

Bill Kelly has returned on the campus from his short stay in California. Bill has registered in the University and will finish his college career at Montana.

The St. Charles crew keeps in trim by taking turns at jerking O'Rourke's leg.

Emil Perry of Phillipsburg and Taylor of Hamilton will be eligible for football next fall. Both were big frosh line-men. "Feet" Lewis of Butte has also returned to school and will be eligible for next year's lineup. These three men will help to bolster the Montana grid squad.

What could be worse on an instructor than not to be able to find room for his class? Major Milburn has not been able to find a room for his football class so he has had to discontinue it. He expects to start spring practice at the end of February.

Stanford just finished its football season but Pop Warner is going to call his crew together for spring practice in two weeks. He should start a marathon football contest, and declare his school winner.

For those that haven't read the 1927 changes in the basketball rules. There are no changes that affect the playing of the game.

Goofy Glimpses

Just before we went to press last Friday, it was announced that Hesperus had been wrecked about seven miles west of Alberton on the main line of the Chicago, Milwaukee and Pacific. The Hesperus is the crack steamboat line operating between Chicago and Allee.

Glorious Watson, famous star of the Catamount pictures corporation, has announced that she is divorcing the Marquis Coupe De Mayonnais O'Hote. We are glad to note that Miss Watson is losing her old-fashioned tendencies and is applying for more divorces.

More startling disclosures in baseball scandal. "Swede" Iseberg, former pitcher of Chicago Wool Sox, reveals fact that "Infant" Ruth, home run king, was frequently guilty of eating peanuts in bed which is a distinct infraction of rule which positively prohibits eating peanuts in bed. This will probably have a direct bearing on this Almie Temple McPherson case.

Mamie Shiple McBeerson, famous evangelist and builder of the Simple Temple at Los Angeles, has just returned from a publicity campaign through the Mohair desert. Mrs. McBeerson will deliver a series of interesting lectures on "The Influence of Radio on the California Bathing Beaches." She is sponsoring a movement to build a home for desecrated radio operators.

In our next issue we will publish a most interesting review of the great movie, "The Pig Parade." It is a thrilling story of the recent world war in which John Filbert plays the leading part. It is declared that this picture rivals even the famous stage production, "Babies' Irish Nose."
